

Liberation vs. Liberty

Full freedom
comes to fruition
when the exhilaration
of liberation
is complemented by
the commitments
of liberty.

Liberation is freedom from;
liberty is freedom for.

Liberation separates
from servitude;
liberty enters
into plenitude

Liberation is the means
and the path;
liberty is the end
and the goal.

Liberation severs;
liberty binds;
liberation disconnects;
liberty unites.

Liberation strives for
independence;
liberty fosters
interdependence.

Did you ever realize that liberation can be accomplished for you,
but only you
can achieve liberty;
and that for the seekers
of spirituality
it is possible to enjoy liberty
even before being liberated?

© Msgr. Walter Niebrzydowski

July 2, 1987

Fr-Walter@nyc.rr.com

www.fatherwaltersparish.org